FOURTH EDITION
SHERIDAN.

He is Tended the Hospitalities of Philadelphia—He Desires no Formal Reception—But is Entirely in the Hands of the People—He is to be Here Next Wednesday—Significant Speeches by Sheridan and Sickles, Etc.

[SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. The Committee appointed by the City Council to extend the hospitalities of the city of Philadelphia to General Sheridan (composed of the following gentlemen—Messrs. Jones, Sherman, Kersey, Shalcross, and Duffy, of Select Council, and Ray, Palmer, Thompson, Martin, and Evans, of Common Council) reached here this morning at 5 1/2 o'clock. After breakfasting at Willard's General Sheridan was informed of the arrival of the Committee by Major Clayton McMichael, of his staff, and the General signed his entire bill to the citizens to receive them. Accordingly, at 9 o'clock A. M. the Committee proceeded to General Sheridan's room, at Willard's, when they were severally introduced to the General. Mr. Robert Evans, on behalf of the Committee, addressed General Sheridan in a few appropriate remarks, and made known the object of the Committee's visit.

General Sheridan returned his hearty thanks for the compliment, and stated that he would leave Washington for Philadelphia on Wednesday morning, at 12 o'clock, and said he would be much gratified to meet the citizens of Philadelphia and, for prudential reasons, he must decline any formal reception; but while in Philadelphia he would not feel responsible for anything that might take place, while there, and they could do what they pleased as far as concerned him. The General and the Committee then entered into a pleasant general conversation, during which General Sheridan gave interesting particulars of matters connected with New Orleans. General Sheridan's manner was very cordial, and the visit was a very satisfactory character to all concerned. After a pleasant half hour with General Sheridan, the Committee was taken to the Bobbit House, and were introduced to General Sickles, who received them very cordially. General Sickles imparted considerable information about affairs in the Carolinas, and expressed the confident belief that nothing but military rule, properly administered, could ever produce a healthy tone in Southern politics and society. He said that the people of the Carolinas were daily learning that their only hope was in the recent acts of Congress, as far as their future welfare was concerned. The negroes know now that they were protected, and were willing to work for their old masters, while they would not do under the old whipping system established by him (Sickles).

After the interview with General Sickles, the Committee proceeded to the residence of the Hon. J. B. Blair, Sr., and will leave for Philadelphia this evening. During the afternoon the Committee will visit the Virginia border, and will probably call on General Grant and other notables.

Personal.

Secretary Welles, General Hancock, F. P. Blair, Sr., and Hon. Edmund Cooper, of Tennessee, dined with the President yesterday (Sunday). General Hancock had another interview this morning with the President, and Jerry Black was also in attendance at the White House.

FROM BALTIMORE TO-DAY.

The Murder of Two Colored People by a Policeman—Police Matters, Etc. [SPECIAL DESPATCH TO EVENING TELEGRAPH.] BALTIMORE, Sept. 23.—The excitement continues regarding the shooting and killing of the colored woman, Elizabeth Murray, and wounding her husband by Policeman Gottlieb Frey, who, it is alleged, did the deed out of petty political hatred towards the negroes. Frey is held for the decision of the Coroner's Jury.

To-day primary elections take place to select delegates to the City Judiciary Convention. There are three tickets in the field.

HEARING AT THE CENTRAL STATION.—J. B. Marder was charged with having given a worthless check in payment to the proprietor of the States Union Hotel. He had been stopping at the States Union Hotel, and gave in payment the check, which was drawn upon the South-west National Bank, for $20, and purported to have been signed by Thomas Hill. That gentleman denied having any account at the bank. Marder was held in $1500 bail to answer.

SMOKE BURNING.—At 1 o'clock this afternoon Mrs. Hyerman was seriously burned by a pot of fat taking fire, at her residence, No. 929 Walnut street.

CAMDEN AFFAIRS.

A FLOATING WHISKY DISTILLERY SEIZED.—On Friday last a man named Daniel Wills, residing in Camden, went on a gunning excursion down the river. Who near Bismarck he discovered a three-masted schooner of 40 tons capacity. Her length of keel is 110 feet, over all 115 feet. The breadth of beam is 18 feet, depth of hold 10 feet. Joseph W. Wilson, a resident of Philadelphia, has been honored by having the vessel named after him. The vessel is owned by Captain John S. Somers, who will command her. Everything that will tend to make her as strong as possible has been applied. The keel is riveted through and through with galvanizing iron bolts. In order to prevent it from splitting should the vessel run aground. The cabin is 20 ft. up in stowage. It is finished with rosewood and oak. The corners and caps are gilded. The accommodations for the crew are excellent. She is a perfect model, and reflects credit upon her builders. The launch will take place on Wednesday next, at 10 A. M.

A NEW SCHOONER.—Messrs. Taylor & Mathis, ship builders, at the foot of Front street, Cooper's Point, have just completed the finest vessel ever built on the western coast of New Jersey. She is a three-masted schooner of 40 tons capacity. Her length of keel is 110 feet, over all 115 feet. The breadth of beam is 18 feet, depth of hold 10 feet. Joseph W. Wilson, a resident of Philadelphia, has been honored by having the vessel named after him. The vessel is owned by Captain John S. Somers, who will command her. Everything that will tend to make her as strong as possible has been applied. The keel is riveted through and through with galvanizing iron bolts. In order to prevent it from splitting should the vessel run aground. The cabin is 20 ft. up in stowage. It is finished with rosewood and oak. The corners and caps are gilded. The accommodations for the crew are excellent. She is a perfect model, and reflects credit upon her builders. The launch will take place on Wednesday next, at 10 A. M.
